

BORN TO RIDE

A documentary, written and directed by Gildas Nivet & Tristan Guerlotté.

Synopsis

Tells and promises from a paralympic medalist's superhero.

The 48-year-old pro para-cyclist has won numerous medals at national, European and international level. Over an intense 10 years, Sébastien Bichon competed in many events, accumulating cycling titles. In 2004, he retired from his professional career, but he didn't hang up his saddle. As he loves a challenge and pushing himself to his limits, he decided to take part in Born to Ride.

This intense cycle ride crosses the French countryside of undergrowth, forests, fields, lakes, and more. The 1,200-km route must be completed in just 120 hours with one major obstacle: 15,000 metres of elevation gain. Compared to the other 249 riders, Sébastien faced an additional difficulty: he had his leg amputated at age four and a half.
